

The Idaho Environmental Health Association

Is a non-profit, professional and educational organization for individuals who work to control environmental hazards and promote healthful environmental conditions. IEHA is dedicated to advancing Environmental Health Professionals, Industrial Hygienists, Laboratory Personnel, Health Care Professionals, Environmental Engineers, Consultants, Solid Waste Operators and other environmental health professionals. By encouraging our members to express their differences of opinion and to learn from each other we promote a more competent and motivated work force.

Objectives

- Provide an opportunity and stimulus for professional growth
- Promote high standards of conduct and qualifications
- Strive for increased recognition of environmental health professionals as a group rendering service vital to the health and well-being of the public
- Continue to affiliate with National organizations with similar objectives and programs.

Educational Conference

Each March IEHA hosts an annual conference. People like you who want to keep abreast of the latest developments in environmental health programs put the conference together. Continuing education credits are awarded to conference participants.

Newsletter

Two newsletters are published annually. The "Digest" is in the format of a booklet and provides members with an opportunity to publish articles on special projects, programs or areas of study that they have been involved with.

Committees

Committees are formed biannually to help organize, promote, and facilitate the functioning of the Association. They include the membership, election, audit, professional promotion, budget, awards, legislation, and constitution/by-laws committees.

Legislation

The Association will be keeping members more informed on proposed legislation that may affect them and the environmental health profession.

Professional Promotion

Our goal is to increase recognition of the environmental health profession's role in managing environmental problems.

Membership Expansion

By encouraging participation from all sectors of the environmental health field, we are able to broaden our perspective and influence on environmental issues.
